DULLES TELLS REDS HOW TO END COLD WAR

Sloan Freed After Wife Acquitted

Prosecutor Asks Murder Indictment Be Quashed In Nephew's Death

McCONNELSVILLE, Ohio (P)—Raymond Sloan was freed from Morgan County jail today and reunited with his wife, Frances, after a murder charge against him was quashed.

Mrs. Sloan, jointly indicted with her husband in the gunshot death of their nephew, Kenneth Strohl, 16, was acquitted Thursday by a common pleas court jury on a first degree murder charge.

Morgan County Prosecutor Frank J. H. Cox said today he had asked Common Pleas Court to dismiss the indictment against Sloan, and Judge Carlos Riecker had assented.

Mrs. Sloan was waiting outside the jail as her husband was released, and the two walked off arm-in-arm.

THE BOY'S body was found at

Ed Ebert Named Blood Chairman Here For Last 6 Months Of 1955

Ed Ebert, of 235 Watt St., today accepted chairmanship of the Pickaway County Red Cross blood program for the remainder of 1955.

Leaders of the blood-collecting setup are named for six-month periods. Ebert will succeed Carl W. Seymour, of Stoutsville Route 1.

Ebert, 34, was born in Pickaway County and is well known in the district. He married the former Margie Neff. They have three children.

A vice-chairman to assist Ebert in his new duties has yet to be named. Other members of Ebert's staff will also be appointed.

EBERT PLANS to meet soon with local Red Cross officials to set plans for the next visit of the

Amon Carter, Publisher, Dies In Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (P)—Amon G. Carter, who rose from poverty to become the colorful multimillionaire publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, one of the major newspapers of the United States, died Thursday night at 75.

He started as a dishwasher and waiter in a Bowie, Tex., boarding house—and was always proud of it.

From there he traveled to the Indian territory of Oklahoma to sell gilt-framed pictures, then to San Francisco as an advertising man, later to Fort Worth as head of his own advertising company. Then he joined in organization of the newspaper.

In the 1930s, he became a very wealthy oil man and turned his great fortune into philanthropy.

In 1952, he relinquished the presidency to his son Amon Jr., but continued as chairman of the board and publisher of Carter publications.

Probably his best-known friendship was for Will Rogers, the humorist who was killed in a plane crash in Alaska in August 1935. He kept a light burning day and night over Rogers' photo on his desk.

A-Bomb May Be Cause Of Illness

NISHINOMIYA, Japan (P)—The Japan News said today Father Wilhelm Kleinsorge, whose atom bomb experience was featured in John Hershey's book "Hiroshima," is in critical condition at a hospital here.

The newspaper said the 48-year-old German priest's white cell count is down to half of normal. Reduced white cell count may be symptom of radiation disease.

Eisenhower Suggests He Might Run Again

'Teaser' Remark Focuses Attention On Speeches Today

WITH EISENHOWER IN NEW HAMPSHIRE (P)—President Eisenhower's "teaser" suggestion he might seek a second term focused close attention today on his tour of New Hampshire—first state to support him in the 1952 primaries.

The President has two more speaking engagements in the Granite State—one at Lincoln, the other at Franconia Notch — and there was plenty of advance speculation whether he might deal again with the big question: Will he run again?

He dealt with it in only a teasing way in a speech late Thursday at Concord, N. H., but it completely surprised his police - estimated audience of 15,000 persons in State House Plaza.

There was no shred of certainty afterward whether he was just having a bit of fun—or whether he had meant to put across the idea that he is in the market for another term. Many of his listeners were inclined to the latter idea.

IT CAME about this way: The President had been telling the New Hampshire crowd how Sherman Adams, former governor of the state and now Eisenhower's chief aide, boasts about New Hampshire to the White House staff. Eisenhower said his eagerness to find out for himself was one of "the serious reasons" for his visit to the state.

Then he came out with these remarks:

"People often ask me what my ideas are on how long I would like a residence in 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. (the White House).

"My own thought is: They should ask how long it is going to take Gov. Adams to finish up his series of lectures on New Hampshire, because he doesn't seem to be a third of the way through them yet."

The President is in the third day of a six-day tour of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. After his two speeches today he probably will try his luck again at trout fishing or play some golf.

Sawmill Worker Held For Murder

ROME, Ga. (P)—Police Chief Smith Horton said a 37-year-old sawmill worker admitted early today that he abducted 14-year-old Patricia Ann Cook, choked her to death, and then threw her body into the Etowah River.

Horton identified the man as Willie Grady Cochran of nearby Paulding County, a paroled convict. He said no charges had yet been filed against Cochran but that kidnap and murder warrants would be issued later today.

Cochran was arrested Wednesday. He had been reported seen with the girl late Monday.

Japan To Buy Farm Products

TOKYO (P)—A bilateral agreement for Japan to buy $85,000,000 worth of U. S. surplus farm products, mostly wheat and cotton, won final Diet ratification today.

The agreement also provides that the United States will give Japan an additional $15,000,000 of wheat, cotton and milk products for use in the school lunch program.

U Nu Arrives

NEW YORK (P)—Burmese Prime Minister U Nu arrived today for a three-week visit to this country at government invitation.

Public Health Service Endorses Salk Vaccine Use

WASHINGTON (P)—The Public Health Service, agreeing with the opinion of a panel of medical experts, says "we continue to endorse the manufacture and use" of Salk polio vaccine.

The health service statement, reaffirming its earlier stand, was issued as the House Commerce Committee completed two days of unusual hearings in which researchers expressed opinions which added up to an 8-2 vote of confidence in the vaccine.

There still was no word, however, on how soon additional supplies of the vaccine might be available.

Summing up two days of testimony by the 15 specialists at the House hearing, Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) told newsmen today:

"The differences among these

TED LEVY, 4, "sometimes a space man and sometimes a cowboy," gives a space man sample here, little realizing, no doubt, that he is being sued for $150,000 by his grandmother, Mrs. Ann Rubin. She alleges he sprinted down the hall of his Los Angeles home, sailed over the back of a couch and knocked her off her seat on June 26, 1954, and that she spent "several weeks" in a hospital.

Woman's Place Not Only In Home, Girl Staters Told

COLUMBUS (P)—The young feminine politicians of Buckeye Girls' State will be told today that a woman's place is not necessarily in the home.

The 567 delegates to this mythical state government are scheduled to hear addresses on "Women in Government." The speakers are Miss Margaret A. Mahoney, director of the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations, said Mrs. Wayne Black, a legal assistant in the state attorney general's office.

Brothers Find Four Wives Too Many

HOUSTON, Tex. (P)—Two brothers were in jail today because a justice of the peace ruled that four brides for two brothers is illegal.

But Edward Roberts, 31, and Lyle, 21, said they didn't intend to break the law.

Thursday Mrs. Louise Roberts, 17, told Justice Dave Thompson she had learned her husband Edward had married her without getting a divorce from another woman, Russell, 21. Thompson charged Edward with bigamy and set an examining trial.

Brother Lyle was called as a witness.

Two 17-year-old women—Doris and Joan—also appeared, both claiming to have married Lyle.

Edward said:

"I married Russell in Mexico. A lawyer told me the marriage wasn't legal. So I married Lyle."

Lyle said:

"I married Doris in San Angelo. We separated and I came to Houston. I heard through my brother that she divorced me. So I married Joan."

Memphis Plans To Build Own Power Plant

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (P)—The City of Memphis has decided to build its own electric plant rather than accept power from Dixon-Yates. So what happens now?

The City Commission's move Thursday was the ace in the hole for backers of the Tennessee Valley Authority who bitterly oppose any tie up with the private power Dixon-Yates combine.

A new congressional attack on the controversial Dixon-Yates contract seems virtually assured.

President Eisenhower, who backed the Dixon-Yates contract solidly, once told a news conference he would like to see Memphis build its own plant. But there was no immediate comment on the Memphis move from high administration officials.

The Dixon-Yates contract was conceived to provide electricity for the Memphis area, replacing TVA electricity used in atom plants.

Permission For Gas Line Sought

WASHINGTON (P)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. has asked the Federal Power Commission for permission to build new facilities in north central Ohio which it says will enable it to meet estimated increased demands in the area between Marion and Lima.

The company proposes to spend $792,400 to install about 19 miles of natural gas pipeline in Hardin and Allen counties, and a new metering station at Lima. The new line, it said, would allow delivery of additional gas to West Ohio Gas Co.

Train Kills Man

CINCINNATI (P)—Leslie Fitzwater, 62, of nearby Branch Hill, was killed Thursday night when struck by a Baltimore and Ohio train as he walked over a crossing near Branch Hill, the state highway patrol reported.

Many Bills Still To Be Passed By Ohio Legislature

Much Action Taken Thursday, But School And Other Legislation To Be Decided Before Adjourning

BULLETIN
COLUMBUS (P)—The House today passed 98-4 a Senate-approved bill requiring most groups soliciting funds for charitable purposes to register and account for money they receive.

COLUMBUS (P)—This is the day the 101st General Assembly winds up its work. Though clock and calendar say it's Friday, it may officially be Saturday when the Legislature finishes its work.

As the 169 legislators drove toward session's end, they still lacked final agreement on:

A bill to create a state school board, but members of a joint Senate-House committee reported progress. The bill has passed both houses and the conferees are seeking a compromise.

A bill to set up a new formula for distribution of the state school subsidy. The House Education committee has recommended passage of a Senate-approved school subsidy bill with some changes. The changes probably will have to be ironed out in conference committee.

Cut Predicted In U.S. Deficit

Humphrey Says May Balance Budget

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey foresaw today a sharp cut in a $2,500,000,000 deficit predicted for the government in the coming fiscal year, or perhaps even a balanced budget.

Humphrey disclosed the government's improved financial outlook for the bookkeeping year beginning a week hence in testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee. "We hope and believe," he said, that the government can get along on a temporary one-year extension of the public debt limit at its present $281,000,000 level.

Humphrey said "our present promising business and international outlook" is the foundation of his optimism that there is no need for a more permanent higher ceiling.

Congress gave the Treasury a one-year boost in the debt ceiling last summer, from $275,000,000 to $281,000,000.

Humphrey said the public debt probably will stand at about $273,500,000,000 as the new fiscal year opens next Friday.

Proposal Is Bad

MONROE, Mich. (P)—Mrs. Marie Raschke proposed a primary election to eliminate one of seven candidates for the three vacancies on the Estril Beach Village Commission. The primary was held and she was the one eliminated.

Peron Works On New Cabinet; Tells People 'They Need Him'

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (P)—President Juan Peron worked on a new Cabinet lineup today after telling the Argentine people he is staying in office only because they need him.

"If I were not strengthened by the importance to me of the people," he said in a nationwide broadcast Thursday night, "I would abandon the government this very day. If I have not done it, it was because I really fear the consequences my selfishness would bring down on the nation."

Peron's broadcast reviewing the bloody revolt last week came only a few hours after his 16-man Cabinet resigned. The presidential press secretariat said the ministers wanted to let the President reshuffle the government as he wished.

Use Of Force And Subversion Should Stop

Secretary Of State Lists Major Problems For Geneva Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told Russia in blunt language today that the way to end the cold war is to stop using force against other countries and to stop supporting subversion.

In a stinging attack on communism, Dulles declared:

"To bring the cold war to an end, seven points are not needed; this one is sufficient."

The secretary spoke at the U. N.'s 10th anniversary meeting, which Wednesday heard Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov propose a seven-point program to liquidate the cold war.

DULLES PULLED no punches as he reviewed the role of communism in recent history. He agreed with Molotov that some problems had been settled recently, but he said they would have been settled years earlier except for the Communists.

"We do not forget," he said, "we dare not forget, that some of those who now hail the recent developments are precisely those who for years sought to stop them."

Dulles strongly defended the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and other regional organizations which Molotov blamed for much of the trouble today. These organizations were based on the spirit of the U. N. Charter, he said, and it was Western strength, backed by these organizations, which had led to the solution of major problems.

Then, in sarcastic language, he took up the problems which Molotov had listed in his speech as having been solved. The Korean War, he said, was ended only after U. N. forces had repelled Communist aggression.

Monte Irvin Sold To Minneapolis

ST. LOUIS (P)—The New York Giants, struggling to get back into National League contention, brought up infielder Wayne Terwilliger from their Minneapolis farm club today and sold outfielder Monte Irvin outright to the Millers.

The Giants emerged from two days of wildfire rumors today with Leo Durocher still in the driver's seat and presumably destined to stay there awhile.

Owner Horace Stoneham denied rumors that he plans to depose Durocher in the near future.

Band Leader Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Philip Herman Sapiro, leader of the San Francisco Municipal Band for 35 years, died Thursday. He was 73. Graduates of his band include Paul Whiteman.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"TEXAS T' WITH TEN-GALLON DOT"

This "I" happens to be loaded. It owns an Oil Mine down in Texas and has more dots than you can shake a dash at. It has a Homburg dot when it works in formal invitations and a straw dot for summer and a dot with a propeller on it in case it gets a job in a children's book. But wealth hasn't gone to its head. It's still the same simple, good hearted letter "I" it's always been and has no intention of leaving the Alphabet. In fact, it's just adopted a family of small J's and has supplied them with enough spare dots to last a lifetime. I could go on like this but my spare is running out so I'll just say (if you'll excuse me): Dot's dot!

would like to see tackled by the coming meeting of the Big Four in Geneva next month. He did not list them specifically as agenda items, but he enumerated them as he led into his discussion of the Geneva talks.

1. Unification of Germany.
  2. The problem of the Eastern European satellites of Russia.
  3. Communist China's use of force and threats of force in Korea, Indochina and Formosa.
  4. Efforts of "international communism" to overthrow governments by conspiracy.
  5. Disarmament.
- "These are some of the problems that confront us as we face the future," Dulles said. "They are problems which cannot be met if we shut our eyes to them, or if we are weak, confused, or divided."

DULLES' SPEECH followed one of the most cordial private meetings ever held between the secretary of state and Molotov. They dined together Thursday at Molotov's suburban villa and reportedly settled the arrangements for the meeting of the Big Four in Geneva next month.

Today's crowded speaking program winds up the round of policy declarations by the 60 U. N. members and leaves only the closing ceremonies on Sunday to conclude the week-long session.

Couple Seeks Information On Lost Collie

A Pennsylvania couple asked that Pickaway County residents be on the lookout for a dog which they may have lost in this area.

In a letter to Police Chief Elmer Merriam, the couple stated that the male collie dog was believed lost between Wilmington and Zanesville. He is described as follows:

Light reddish-brown in color with white on his face and throat; three months old; small spot on tip of tail; answers to the name of "Butch".

The dog has a tag showing a rabies shot was given at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. The tag, which contains the number 997, is mounted on a green collar.

Anyone with information about this dog is asked to contact Chief Merriam at the Circleville police station.

Blaze Damages City Residence

City firemen reported a blaze inside a house on Dearborn Ave. Thursday.

An upholstered chair, the ceiling and a curtain were damaged. No estimate of loss was reported.

Rotary Members Tour GE Plant

Members of the Circleville Rotary Club were reminded by a local industrial leader Thursday that the steady growth of mechanization means ultimate benefits for all.

Ed Grigg, manager of the Circleville Lamp Works of the General Electric Co., was the main speaker at the club's weekly meeting, held at the plant. He emphasized that improved methods in industry have:

1. Created more jobs.
2. Made the work easier all along the line.
3. Reduced prices through mass production.
4. Raised wages and the standard of living.

ILLUSTRATING the points stressed in his address to the gathering, Grigg led the club members on a tour of the big plant. He explained how mechanical developments through the years have made possible the ultra-modern methods now used by the local plant in electric lamp manufacture.

Anderson Plans To Resign Soon

Hamilton Man Is Mentioned For Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert B. Anderson plans to resign "in the next few months," and there were indications the Eisenhower administration will bring in an outsider to succeed him.

A brief Pentagon announcement late Thursday said Anderson had informed Secretary of Defense Wilson of his plan to leave the government. No reason was given, and Anderson's future plans were not disclosed.

Speculation quickly centered on Reuben B. Robertson Jr., a Hamilton, Ohio, paper company executive who had conferred with Wilson a short time before the announcement was made. The Tulsa Tribune said it learned reliably Robertson probably would get the job.

Anderson himself moved into the department's No. 2 job from the post of secretary of the Navy. Others considered as possible successors to him included Charles S. Thomas, who now holds the Navy post; Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott; and Gordon Gray, a Democrat who recently was appointed an assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

Walnut FFA Youth Places 8th In Test

Don Quillen, 1955 graduate of Walnut Township School, placed eighth in the State Future Farmers of America agriculture engineering contest held recently at Ohio State University.

Quillen, who served as Walnut FFA reporter for the past year, scored 72.8 points to receive the high rating in competition with 70 other FFA members. The contest consisted of a two-hour written exam, dealing with the use of farm machinery and equipment.

He is the son of Mrs. Lewis Quillen, of Ashville Route 1, and plans to enroll in the College of Engineering at Ohio State University this Fall.

Elections Slated By Rainbow Girls

COLUMBUS (AP)—Elections will be held today among the 2,500 Ohio girls attending the four-day meeting of the Grand Assembly of Rainbow, a subsidiary organization of the Masonic order.

The girls, between the ages of 12 and 20, arrived here Thursday for the start of their annual sessions and initiated 60 new members into various units.

New officers will be installed Saturday and drill teams will compete for honors. Crowning of a queen will highlight a final session Saturday night.

2nd Accusation Placed Against Corbin Justice

Corbin Justice Jr., already bound over to the Pickaway County Grand Jury earlier this week for breaking and entering, had a second similar accusation placed against him.

Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb again bound him over to the grand jury, setting bond at $500. The first charge was for an alleged break in, the new charge for an alleged break in attempt. In both instances, the offenses were supposed to have taken place at Carl Snider's Tavern, S. Washington St.

Other city court cases reported Friday include:

John H. Arthur, 38, of Circleville; $100 and costs, three days in jail and a six month's suspension of his driving rights for drunk driving; arrested by Officer Forrest Sowards.

Thomas C. Dewey, 31, of Circleville, and Fred J. Wirthman, 44, of Columbus; each fined $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line; arrested by Sowards.

Paul W. Teegardin Jr., 20, of Ashville; $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line; affidavit signed by John Lockard, a city policeman who was off duty at the time, and arrested by State Patrolman Gene Miller.

Nine-Year Old Boy Burned As Result Lighter 'Explosion'

Sammy Colter, 9, of Williamsport Route 2, suffered severe burns while he was apparently playing with matches and a cigarette lighter Thursday afternoon.

A report from the sheriff's office here stated the lighter "exploded" and ignited the youth's clothing. He received first and second degree burns on his neck and chest and third degree burns on his hands.

The boy was rushed to Berger Hospital by Jack Clark, of Williamsport. Following emergency treatment at the hospital here, he was transferred to Children's Hospital in Columbus.

The youth is the son of Elmo and Lucille Colter. Their residence is on the Harold Mace farm, three miles south of Williamsport on Hunsicker Rd.

Another report from the sheriff's office told of a garage fire on the Rinehart farm, north of South Bloomfield on Route 23, Friday morning. No other details were available.

Girl, 5, Drowns

AKRON (AP)—Five-year-old Jacquelyn Innocenzi of Cleveland was drowned Thursday while wading in Lake Plata near Twinsburg. Authorities said the girl apparently stumbled and fell in about two feet of water ten feet from a shore.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. ARTHUR BAKER

A native of Pickaway County, the former Agnes Fern Kuhlwein, died Thursday in Grant Hospital in Columbus.

Mrs. Baker was born on Jan. 25, 1905 at Duvall but was a resident of Columbus. She was the daughter of the late John William Kuhlwein and Nora Noich Kuhlwein, who survives.

Other survivors include: her husband, Arthur, of Columbus; a son, Charles William, with the U. S. Navy in Newport, R. I.; and three sisters, Mrs. Ben Duvall and Mrs. David Jinks, both of Ashville, and Mrs. Florence Peters, of Dayton.

Services will be held on Monday at 10:30 a. m. in St. Matthews Lutheran Church in Lockbourne, with the Rev. W. W. Stuck officiating. Burial will follow in Fernwood Cemetery at the direction of the Bastian Funeral Home, of Ashville.

Friends may call in the funeral home after noon on Saturday.

Ex-Policeman To Be Given Special Award

A recently retired Circleville police officer will receive a special award Sunday evening in connection with a movie being shown that day at the Grand theatre.

Alvah (Pappy) Shasteen will be presented with a "Certificate of Merit" by Circleville Mayor Robert E. Hedges. The presentation, which cites an outstanding law enforcement officer, will be made between shows in the Grand Theater at approximately 6 p. m.

The award was originated by Phillips H. Lord, creator of the famed "Gangbusters" series. The series has been made into a movie bearing the same title, and it will be showing on Sunday.

Shasteen is a veteran policeman who joined the force in the early 1930's. Injuries he received in an auto crash a few years ago forced his retirement. He is 69.

He was regarded as one of the most popular officers on the force.

Former Van Wert School Head Dies

Two Road Contracts Awarded For Pickaway County Work

Two important contracts have been awarded for road work in Pickaway County.

Three bridges along Route 62 will either be improved or reconstructed. This work will be done in Darby Township in Pickaway County and Pleasant Township in Franklin County.

The George W. Van Camp Co. has been awarded a contract to resurface portions of Routes 56 and 159. Completion date has been set for next Sept. 30.

The bridge contracts were awarded to the Beaumont Bridge Corp., of Columbus. Their bid of $333,903.80 compared with the estimate of $379,000.

THE CONTRACT calls for the following:

"Widening and resurfacing and constructing beam extensions to an existing concrete beam bridge and extending existing concrete abutments for bridge over Spring Water Run;

"A continuous concrete slab bridge with capped pile piers and concrete abutments for a bridge over Big Darby overflow; "A continuous steel beam bridge with concrete deck and concrete substructure a bridge over Big Darby Creek."

Date of completion on the bridges is set for July 31, 1956.

VAN CAMP'S contract, on which he bid $74,949.83 against an estimate of $76,200, calls for the following:

"Route 56 — 19.92 (part); Route 159 — 0.00, 9.38; and Route 159 — 8.56, 9.01, 9.07, 9.10, 9.13, 9.29 (part). Total of 15.93 miles."

NO 'HALLS OF IVY' LOOK TO PLANS FOR HUGE NEW AIR FORCE ACADEMY

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER

Written Especially for the Central Press Association

CHICAGO—"Halls of Ivy"—the traditional symbol of college campuses throughout the United States, including those of the Army's Academy at West Point and the Navy's at Annapolis—seem to have no part in plans for the nation's newest great university, the Air Force Academy on which construction will start immediately at a 17,500 acre tract in the foothills of the Rockies seven miles north of Colorado Springs.

Detailed plans for the $140 million layout are emerging from the drawing boards here of the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, and they look more like those of a world's fair or the United Nations building in New York City than the traditional concept of a seat of learning.

The rugged outlines of Rampart ridge which towers over the site to the west, or maybe the wide vistas of the air age which have given birth to the Academy, seem to have inspired the designers to cast precedents in college structures to the four winds and to strike out on an entirely new tack that may have a profound influence on what colleges of the future may look like.

As followers in the footsteps of Frank Lloyd Wright, the bold Wisconsin designer, and Walter Burley Griffin, who a generation ago saw in his mind's eye the exact layout of Australia's new capital city, Canberra, and designed it here in Chicago, thousands of miles away, the architects of the AF Academy are out to suit their AF campus to its locale 900 miles away from their skyscraper offices in the Loop here.

THE ARCHITECTS are so inspired that they speak of the site, surrounded by mountains, as being "as thrilling as the Acropolis of Athens."

Adopting the idea that "there are no atheists in the Air Forces," any more than there are in fox-holes, the designers have given the climax role in their dynamic layout to a modernistically designed chapel which they predict will dominate its surroundings in the same way as does the ancient Abbey of Mont St. Michel in France.

Reflecting "great simplicity in design," the new Academy will, in the opinion of its architects, be "timeless" in its style.

THE MONEY to be spent during the next two years will go roughly $56 million for structures forming the scholastic and housing sections of the Academy; $36 million for the water supply, roads and highways of an academic community expected to have a population of approximately 10,000 persons, and $31 million for an airfield.

Eliminating from consideration the special engineering and airport facilities dictated by the Academy's particular purpose, the vast sum needed to build a university for comparatively few students—totaling 2,496 at the peak—impresses educators as a commentary on the current expenses of building institutions of higher learning.

Although the air cadets will receive flight instruction in light planes, the really rigorous pilot training will be post-graduate. At the AF Academy it will be mainly "skull practice," with a strenuous four-year academic routine built around courses in social studies and the humanities, basic science, military science and physical education.

Labor's Gains Seen Boon To Tool Makers

Building Industry Expects More Orders From New Contracts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor's gains this year in wages and fringe benefits is a boon to the machinery and tool makers. The construction industry, too, looks for a new round of factory building.

The reason is: As labor costs climb, industry seeks ways to cut costs. One way is to weed out inefficiencies in present operations. Another, which can go hand in hand with the first, is to build new, more efficient plant or install machinery that can do much of the work now done by men.

That is why the auto industry one week signs costly agreements with the union—including the fringe benefit of a form of guaranteed wage, costing five cents an hour per man—and the next week announces costly construction plans.

There are other reasons, of course. The big three auto makers are spending millions to expand their facilities because they believe the American public is going to buy a lot of cars. They are betting, in other words, that this year's car buying spree isn't just a fluke but is going to carry over into next year and the next.

To cut labor costs is, however, one of the prime reasons. The new plants and the new machines which the auto companies plan will enable them to turn out more products per man hour worked. This goes by the term, increased productivity.

The auto companies take it into account in their contracts with the union, where it is called the improvement factor. This provision increases the hourly pay scale by about six cents each year, recognizing that each year the worker will be turning out more end products per hour worked, thanks to the new tools he'll be using.

In announcing its new 500 million dollar expansion program, General Motors stresses that "the major portion of the expenditures will be for new machine tools, presses and other facilities." This will bring to a total of four billion dollars the amount GM has spent on plant space and new equipment since the end of World War II.

Ford has a similar spending plan for more space and more efficient equipment. Its postwar total comes to almost 2½ billion dollars. And there are reports that further spending is to be announced shortly.

Chrysler has spent 500 million for modernization and has an additional 120 million dollar program now under way. Executives say, "We are constantly improving plant and equipment."

The impetus which the new round of wage hikes and fatter fringe benefits is giving to this improvement trend spreads throughout many other industries.

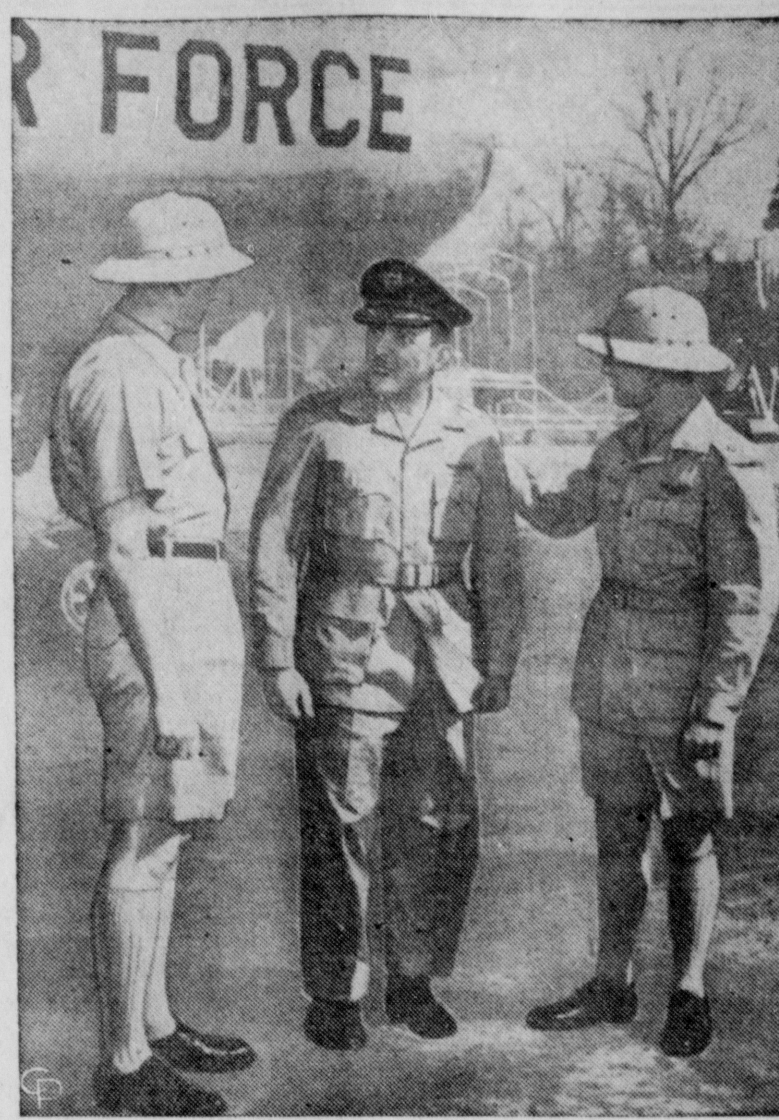

Steel companies, dickering with the union now, are planning new, more efficient plants to meet a rising demand for steel they foresee in the next few years and to cut down the rising costs of operating old equipment.

Lions Move In Hunting Food

MONTROSE, Calif. (AP)—Probably because of lack of water and food, mountain lions are roaming very close to homes in the Montrose area.

Russell Lloyd told sheriff's officers he heard lions "roaring and screaming" near his home Thursday. Recently he found the tracks of three lions in a picnic area in upper Montrose.

Sheriff's deputies said they believe the lions were looking for food scraps.

Parents Late In Calling For Boy

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Little

Larry Cull is back with his parents again, none the worse for a "misunderstanding" that kept him from them for an extra six days.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Douglas Cull, who left the year-old tot at a boarding house "for five days" and hadn't called for him 11 days later claimed the boy Thursday at Juvenile Court.

Cull, a hardware salesman, said Larry was placed in the boarding house of Mrs. Ellen Faford June 12 because Cull's mother was ill.

Cull paid for five days' care for Larry at the boarding house and at the end of that time, he said, he sent Mrs. Faford money for another week's board and tried to call her, but couldn't find her number.

Lady Fears Mass Strip-Tease As Fumes 'Eat' Nylon

NEW YORK (AP)—A lady has warned the city Department of Air Pollution Control of the responsibility of a mass strip-tease unless sulphuric acid fumes are eliminated from the air.

Mrs. Laura A. Cauble told the department at a hearing recently that because of the fumes one day last year her nylon stockings and the nylons of other women suddenly fell to pieces.

"It's hard for you men to understand women's problems," she said. "But the fact is that women now are almost completely clothed in nylon. If their stockings can disintegrate, why can't all the rest of their clothes?"

Esther Williams Campaigns For More U.S. Swimmers

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Esther Williams launched a campaign this week to get America into the swim. "People ought to swim more," she argues. "Not only so they'll be safe in the water, but because it's healthful and fun, too. A swimming pool is the best thing in the world for a family. It brings the family together and brightens everyone's life."

Esther is certainly a walking testimonial for what a life in the water can do. Besides helping her to achieve one of the world's most admired figures, it has brought her fame and fortune. No wonder she's grateful.

Now she plans to preach the gospel to the nation. The first gun in the campaign is her announcement that she will operate a swimming school at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, opening Aug. 11.

It will be the first of the Esther Williams swimming schools which she expects to establish at Hilton hotels throughout the world. Later she plans to license schools throughout the United States, operating as dance studios do today.

"I've given it a lot of thought over the years," she explained at her Mandeville Canyon home (complete with kidney-shaped pool). "I've developed systems by teaching my own youngsters and other children."

"But it's not only children I'm interested in. I'm also aiming at that age group between 30 and 50—people who want to swim but are afraid to start."

"That's why I thought a hotel operation would be a wonderful beginning for my schools. I was convinced when a friend of mine said she learned to play tennis while at a resort in Phoenix. Grown people would seldom take the opportunity to learn to swim unless they were stopping at a hotel."

"The hotel operation presented

Quinlan drew a three-day suspension. And when he reports back, he'll be walking a beat, Slusser declared. The superintendent said he wasn't violating any law anyway—just like any motorist he got caught in a jam.

FAMED LODGE REOPENING

Timberline on Mt. Hood Tries Again

Timberline Lodge
By ELLIS LUCIA

Central Press Association Correspondent

PORTLAND, Ore.—The lights go on again this summer in one of the nation's most famous architectural wonders which annually attracts more visitors from around the world than any other mountain resort in the United States.

Fabulous Timberline lodge high on the slopes of Oregon's Mount Hood has a new manager. He is Richard L. Kohnstamm, a rabid winter sports enthusiast who has spent some time in Europe studying mountain resort operations. He was chosen from 150 applicants by the United States Forest service and given a 10-year permit to operate the public-owned "sky palace."

Kohnstamm has extensive plans to restore Timberline as America's most popular mountain playground. The lodge has been beset by management problems for some time. It was suddenly closed early this year when its power was cut off for failure to pay a $2,500 bill.

At the time the Forest service, which oversees the property, had already served notice on the then manager and Timberline Lodge, Inc., a quasi-public corporation, to get out.

Foresters charged "unsatisfactory management" and said the move was necessary "to protect government property." Since then the entire matter of "farming out" managements has been reappraised in hopes of avoiding a similar situation.

THE "SNOW PALACE" annually attracts over half a million awe-struck visitors who come to view its many wonders. They visit both summer and winter to drink in the vistas of the mighty Cascade mountains. The nearby snow slopes have been the scene of many national ski tournaments and Olympic tryouts.

The massive lodge was built at the 6,000-foot level of 11,523-foot Mount Hood. It was constructed for about $2 million in the early Thirties as a WPA project and dedicated in 1937 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The 12,000 square foot lodge, a mountain in itself, couldn't be duplicated today for $5 million. Its great stone chimney, largest in the nation, has six giant fireplaces and spirals 92 feet through hexagon-shaped lounges.

The native stones weigh 800,000 pounds. The chimney supports six huge timber beams, each weighing seven tons. These great timbers were winched up the mountain to the lodge site.

The lodge was built with care and skill to last 1,000 years. During the winter 70-foot drifts pile against it. Yet the 1,000-pound doorways with its big iron knocker and hinges is so well balanced a small child can open it.

THE LODGE interior is Alpine rustic, following a pioneer and Indian motif. Talents of many of the West's best architects and artists are culminated there. Furnishings are hand-wrought, with everything on a massive Paul Bunyan scale.

Fireplace andirons are from railroad rails. Indian symbols are carved into the lobby's 40-foot fir columns. Natural wood carvings of birds and animals embellish newel posts, stair railings and wall murals. Lighting fixtures are patterned from wagon wheels and ox yokes.

The lodge, used as a World War II naval recuperating center, contains 136 water color paintings, 1,000 yards of hand-woven draperies and spreads, 119 hook rugs and 180 wrought iron pieces. The world's longest tramway, 3.2 miles, transports visitors up the mountain. All these things are reasons why Timberline is looked upon as one of the West's leading attractions.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband's mother cannot tolerate the slightest implication of criticism that might apply to her; why? We live near her, and she expects my husband to drop by daily to see her, and most often we go together in the evening.

But every once in a while something Bob has said will cause her to take offense. Then next morning before he leaves for work, she will telephone him, all equivocal with anger—saying that she will not be criticized! And that he is to stay away from her house!

However, after a few days she phones again, asking us over, and making no mention of her previous outburst of anger. She is 75 years of age and lives alone, so maybe that accounts for these tantrums.

I, being an in-law, watch myself that I do not say anything to offend her, so that she never gets angry with me. In fact we get along fine, and what my husband says that upsets her is really trivial; and of course it doesn't happen too often. But I often wonder why it is that she, and others—but some more than others—will not take criticism? Can you explain?

C. B.

DEAR C. B.: It seems to me that, by and large, sharp sensitivity to criticism has to do with a sense of precarious isolation from humanity; with a feeling of being rejected (overlooked or not needed) either by society or by those special persons whose regard we most value — and who therefore have power to get our goat, most easily.

By virtue of her age, and by law is pretty much cut off from livingness—to use a psychologist's word for "living it up." Thus her son's daily call on her is perhaps her only consistent, and by all odds her most meaningful contact with the living, from her viewpoint.

And, because she has so little portion of him in a given 24 hours, and so much time for rehearsing her second thoughts concerning his sayings and attitudes, she is apt to wind up with wrong versions just as stories get twisted in the re-telling. She loses perspective, makes mountains out of molehills, and Bob is the scapegoat when finally she feels she has to blow her top—for momentary relief of chronic frustration.

After all, who but our nearest and dearest are called upon to put up with the seamy side of our feelings? And who else is geared to take the imposition in stride as a fact of life?

Seeks Affection

Your mother-in-law's blasts at her son seem to embody a mixture of confidence in his indulgence, and challenging resentment at being no longer the indispensable woman in his routine. She feels displaced by you, I suppose, in the sense that he treats her more casually than confidentially in recent years. And I'll wager she is taking him over the coals about this implicit grievance, rather than for something specific he has said, when she falls out with him periodically.

Maybe she suffers for lack of positive affection. Possibly Bob isn't very vocal or courtly in caring for his mother. If he were to make a point of praising and complimenting her, to keep her reminded of his abiding appreciation of her good qualities, she might remember these reassurances when he is out of sight—and thus regain the self-confidence that promotes good temper. You might have him try it, as preventive medicine for what ails her.

Ship Grounded To Save 272 Passengers

BOSTON (AP)—Efforts to refloat the partly submerged excursion vessel Pilgrim Belle were begun less than 24 hours after her skipper purposely ran her aground because a submerged rock had torn a hole in her underside.

The skipper's action was credited with saving the 272 passengers and two-score crewmen.

All passengers, most of them teen-agers, and the crewmen were taken off the leaking and listing vessel within minutes after Capt. James Goodwin eased her onto the mud off Spectacle Island in Boston's inner harbor.

The vessel was on its regular daily run from Boston to Nantasket Beach Wednesday when she struck what the Wilson Line, its owners, said was a rock.

As she began taking water, Capt. Goodwin steered to the island 100 feet away and grounded the vessel.

Tugboats and a police boat rushed to the scene and took the passengers off.

One teen-ager said: "We were jitterbugging to a rock and roll record when the vessel really rocked. The crew quickly lined us up in the center of the boat so it wouldn't tip and we waited there until they took us off."

President Of Liberia Fired On

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP)—Police held a gunman today on charges of firing three shots at Liberia's President William V. S. Tubman.

The President escaped injury but several bystanders were wounded. Tubman, president of the republic since 1943, was celebrating his re-election Wednesday night when the gunman fired three shots. Security guards seized him.

Police said the accused, identified as Paul Dunbar, made a statement implicating leaders of True Whig party.

$64,000 Question TV Show Screens Its Contestants

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS' $64,000 Question, hottest new show in TV, is so lucky on having interesting contestants it might appear they were carefully screened—and they are.

Louis G. Cowan, who owns the show, and executive producer, Steve Carlin make no secret about that. But they say contestants are chosen for their human interest value rather than on the basis of whether they're likely to be able to answer a lot of difficult questions.

The story of the contestant is as important as the amount of money they're trying for, they say.

Thus it was that the first big winner, Redmond O'Hanlon, was quite a story himself. He's a New York City policeman, a Shakespearean scholar, holder of a master of arts degree and the father of five children.

He quit with $16,000 rather than risk it trying for $32,000.

Contestants are chosen from two sources—letters sent to the program and cards distributed among the studio audience. Those picked from the audience won't be on the night the choice is made. If they pass the screening, they are brought on later.

Usually 25 potential contestants are picked for each show but after three screenings the number is reduced to five. Those five are told it's unlikely more than three will have a chance to go for the money.

Treason is the only crime defined in the Constitution of the United States.

Bill Of Rights Favored By Judge

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—"I would rather see Communists freed than lose one provision of the Bill of Rights," Federal Judge Harold R. Medina said Thursday.

The noted jurist stopped briefly at Kanawha Airport en route to address the North Carolina Bar Assn. at Asheville, N. C.

"I am for the Bill of Rights down the line," he said. "That includes the Fifth Amendment. It's easy to let your rights be whittled away a bit at a time. Once they're lost, you never get them back."

Medina, as judge of the U. S. District Court for Southern New York in 1949, presided over the trial of 11 Communists charged with conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government.

The first railroad in China was a short, narrow gauge line between Shanghai and Woosung, completed in 1876. Two years later it was torn up because of opposition to its operation.

Unidentified Man Dies In Jump

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The body of a man who somersaulted from the 11th floor of a downtown office building Thursday night was still unidentified today.

Grey-haired, about 55, the man had no identification in his clothing. The man had hesitated on a ledge for 20 minutes.

James Smithson, founder of the Smithsonian Institute, was English and never visited the United States. He left his fortune in trust to found an establishment for the increase of knowledge among men.

Old Mexico Still Exists At El Rancho del Artista

Food is prepared and eaten outdoors in this corner of the Rancho del Artista. Here there is no United States influence. By EMIL ZUBRYN

Central Press Correspondent

MEXICO CITY—El Rancho del Artista (Artist's Ranch) is just that, a traditional-style Mexican hacienda where Old Mexico lives on. The sprawling rancho in the equally colonial suburb of Coyoacan is a paradise for painters, photographers, sculptors, writers and other creative people. These can rent furnished apartments, living in an atmosphere and environment conducive to creative work, while not far from all the conveniences of the city.

Behind a high, wide stretch of wall painted a bright Mediterranean blue, where the noises of street traffic never penetrate, is a veritable museum of the symbols of Mexico's Indian and colonial past. Here, too, are preserved the customs, folklore, art and religious traditions of the republic.

Guiding spirit of the rancho is Francisco Cornejo, better known as "Pancho" to his multitude of friends. Pancho, who spent 20 years in the United States, chiefly in San Francisco, teaching and painting, always had dreamed of a creative center, and 17 years ago his dream became a reality.

Since then Cornejo has devoted himself to directing his "haven" for creative artists and acting as host during Sunday "open house" sessions as well as at the two famous religious holidays celebrated here: the Christmas posadas, or pre-Christmas fiestas, and the Day of the Animals in January when they receive a traditional blessing.

SUNDAY VISITORS are welcome to look around and to eat a typical Mexican mid-day meal served in the main patio to the tune of regional songs played and sung by marichis, the gaily-becked native musicians. Mexican provincial dances also are performed by expert male and female dancers. It's all like a quick trip to a Mexico that existed many years ago.

However, during the week it is all business—everything is quiet, except for the occasional sounds made by exotic animals and birds native to Mexico freely roaming the grounds. There are deer, pet squirrels, peacocks, chickens, turkeys and a host of songster birds. One of the deer, "Bambi," likes, above everything else, to chew on cigars.

The narrow alleys and lanes of the rancho are filled with antique statues and sculptures, Aztec, Mayan, Toltec and other civilizations. The Garden of the Aztec Gods is a favorite relaxation site for artists who want to rest from their labors.

THE PATH to another retreat, The Garden of the Poets (dedicated by Torres Bodet, former head of UNESCO) is the unique "Stairway of the Immortals," which is tiled with the names of Mexico's most important contributors to the republic's culture.

There is a chapel library dedicated to Sor Juana Ines de la Cruz, Mexico's celebrated female poet, with art books and literary volumes in abundance. The rancho also includes a permanent art gallery and a tiny museum of popular arts. For photographers and artists, Pancho also has provided professional models, typically Mexican and from different regions of the country.

The artists who take advantage of this retreat from reality sometimes only stay for a few weeks. Others stay on for years in a congenial atmosphere where United States and Mexican talent lives and works together and exchanges ideas.

However, it is not students and creative people alone who receive a "lift" from the Rancho del Artista. Many foreign tourists spend unforgettable Sunday afternoons in an atmosphere that slowly is disappearing in modern Mexico.

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower can take enormous comfort from the clobbering Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) took this week, not because it was McCarthy, but from the significance of the clobbering.

The Senate smashed 77-4 a proposal by McCarthy which would have interfered with, if it didn't wreck, Eisenhower's dealings with the Russians in the Big Four meeting in July.

The vote was, in effect, an expression of confidence by an overwhelming number of senators of both parties in letting Eisenhower use his own judgment at the meeting in Geneva.

Only four Republicans, including McCarthy, voted for the proposal. All the Democrats and other Republicans on the floor at the time joined forces in refusing to tell Eisenhower what he should do or handcuff him before he started.

This was the kind of bipartisan support presidents dream about but which few get on the eve of the kind of negotiations Eisenhower faces.

McCarthy's defeat was engineered by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate. Standing right beside him was Sen. Knowland of California, the Republicans' Senate leader.

Eisenhower has received more cooperation from the Democrats on foreign policy since they took over in January than he got from his own Republicans in the two previous years when they ran the Senate.

For in those two years the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy was under constant attack by McCarthy. And even Knowland repeatedly and publicly differed with the President. Knowland hasn't been doing that lately.

The cooperation given Eisenhower by the Democrats in the foreign field is particularly conspicuous when compared with the constant criticism heaped on his Democratic predecessor Harry Truman by the Republicans.

McCarthy proposed that the Senate tell Eisenhower to demand of Russia, before the Big Four meeting, an agreement to discuss the question of Communist control in countries in Asia and Europe.

If the Senate went along with McCarthy—and if Eisenhower let the Senate dictate to him how to handle foreign affairs and made the demand on the Russians—the latter probably would have refused any meeting. If, by the far-fetched chance they agreed, they in turn could make demands on Eisenhower.

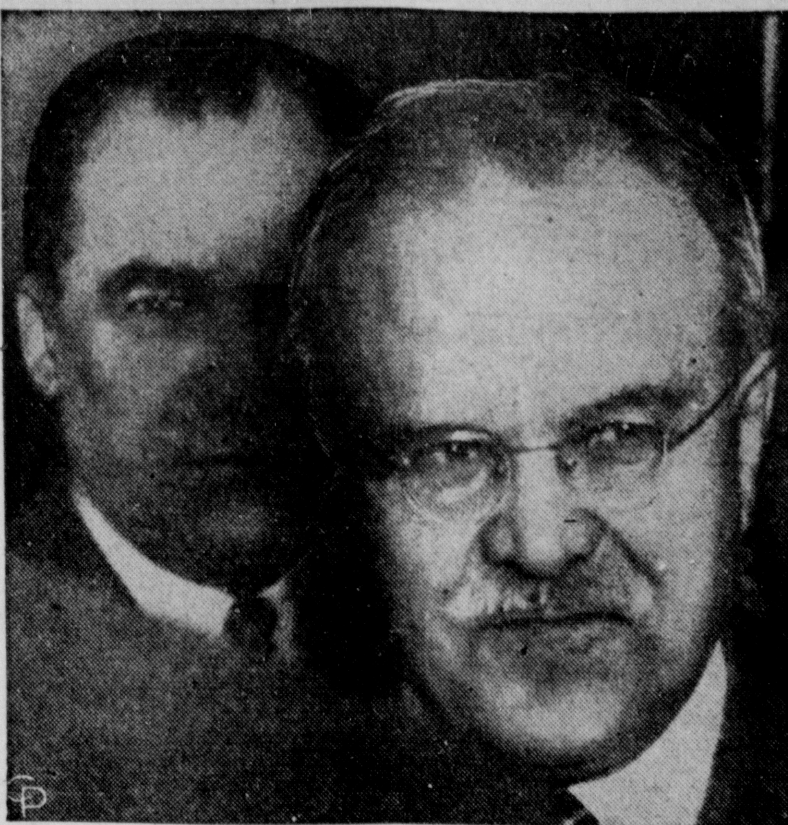

Johnson said McCarthy was trying to put Eisenhower in a strait-jacket. McCarthy suddenly introduced his suggestion Monday and wanted fast action. Johnson said he'd get it. He sent the proposal to the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee at once.

On Tuesday that group, made up of Democrats and Republicans, condemned it 14-0. Then Johnson brought it out on the floor Wednesday. The vote that followed was a slaughter for McCarthy and a hearty pat on the back for Eisenhower.

Burning Car Has Own Alarm

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN Pa., (AP) — An auto on a used car lot burst into flames Thursday, sounded its horn, then slipped into gear and obligingly moved under its own power away from other cars.

Firemen put out the blaze after being summoned by F. H. Costenbader, who heard the horn blowing.

Fire Chief Claude Sausser said the blaze apparently caused a short circuit, which not only caused the horn to blow, but somehow started the engine and put the car in gear. It moved 25 feet before stopping.

The car was destroyed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — City police found a stolen car Thursday but they weren't proud. It had been in police custody for more than a month after being hauled in for a parking violation.

State, District Sales Tax Data Climbs Again

Sales tax revenues of $3,966,704 for the week ending June 11, 1955, exceeded collections for the same period last year by almost $700,000, it was disclosed today by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy. In Pickaway County, the increase was $1,266.45.

The actual amount of statewide increase was $699,217, or 21.4 percent more than collections of $3,267,487 reported for the corresponding week which ended June 12, 1954.

Sharp increases, compared to 1954 totals, were registered in all eight of the major industry classifications.

The automotive group led off with a gain of $302,297, or 29.98 percent. Building increased $133,744, or 36.33 percent. Food was up $12,877, or 6.32 percent.

APPAREL INCREASED $18,886, or 9.4 percent. Department and general stores registered a gain of $31,855, or 10.9 percent. The chain store classification increased $101,746, or 19.25 percent.

Furniture gained $59,318, or 20.73 percent; and the miscellaneous group increased $76,947, or 15.34 percent.

Jet Outdistances Sun In Flight

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Three British Royal Air Force officers

flew across the North Pole in a jet bomber from Norway to Alaska Thursday, landing 4½ hours by the clock before they left Europe.

The twin-engine Canberra, first of its kind to fly across the pole, roared onto Ladd Air Force Base at 4:27 p. m., Alaska time, 6 hours and 23 minutes after leaving Bardufoss, Norway. They had left the European airport at 9:04 p. m., Norway time.

The 3,200-mile jaunt was completed at an average speed of 500 m.p.h., gaining all the way on the sun, which had been setting when they left Bardufoss.

THE VANDAL INSTINCT

WHETHER THE vandal instinct, which seems never to grow less in the human race, is a throwback to an earlier day when vandalism was closely linked to survival, or is a modern manifestation of devilry—or both—is a question few observers of the current scene have attempted to answer. But police of all cities are constantly besieged by victims reporting vandalism to property.

But it is in defacing and ruining public property that the vandal really develops form. Public buildings, public parks, public monuments—all these are constantly subjected to defacement and more serious damage by vandals. And seldom is the guilty person caught and punished for succumbing to his strange urge. Nor are vandals mainly juveniles. Police say adults develop this perverse trait to a fine point of perfection.

What this destruction costs the taxpayers yearly cannot be determined accurately, but the figure is in millions. Recently a vandal made a 9 by 11 inch tear almost in the center of the largest oil painting in the national capitol, "The Battle of Lake Erie," which has been viewed by millions of Americans.

To repair the painting will cost $22,500. J. George Stewart, the capitol architect, told a House Appropriations subcommittee. Stewart told the committee evidence of vandalism is frequently found in the Capitol by inspectors.

In the painting of the famous battle of September 10, 1813, Admiral Oliver Hazard Perry of the U. S. Navy is seen pulling away from his badly damaged flagship, the Lawrence, to the Niagara, from which he sent his famous message to General Harrison: "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

WHITHER

PUBLICISTS perked up their ears when Willard F. Libby, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, made a technical speech at a University of Chicago alumni reunion the other day. When the scientific terms were decoded, it was discovered that Libby had made some alarming statements.

He appears to have said that a nuclear bomb which is the equivalent of 10 million tons of TNT or of even a much larger size can now be made cheaply. The radiation effects (fall-out) of such a weapon would be intense and cover a large area. Libby mentioned a radiation area of 100,000 square miles but this, too, is interpreted as theoretical and the area might be much larger. Dangerous radiation could last for weeks and months.

Bombs could be spaced over a nation so that all of it would be menaced by radiation and there would be no place to go. If such is the case, talk of evacuating areas before bombs fell would scarcely be relevant.

Instead Libby spoke of using street sweepers and other devices for reducing the dangerous fall-out so that survivors, hiding underground, could emerge safely for a few hours at a time. What would happen to vegetation isn't stated.

If this is a realistic appraisal of the future warfare, one can only roll it all up into the query, "Whither, humanity?"

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

In a letter to "The New York Times," Dr. Otto Nathan, who quarrelled with the State Department over his passport and got it through the courts, states categorically: "... The right of a citizen to travel cannot be restricted."

In this letter, Dr. Nathan reduces the passport functions of the State Department to a mere registry. He says:

"My legal advisers argued that the State Department only has discretion in purely administrative matters such as the size of the passport photo, but does not enjoy any discretion in substantive matters and that it is unconstitutional to apply political standards to passport applications, as the State Department does. . ."

If this is correct, Congress should clearly define the nature of a passport, who is entitled to its use, who is to determine to which countries an American may travel, and by what method a passport may be lifted if its possessor becomes a problem to this country.

The passport is a statement by the United States that the bearer is a citizen in good standing, that American officials abroad are required to protect him by whatever means they possess, that in the event of war or revolution, the American Government will employ such methods as it may devise to safeguard him.

In 1918, because I bore an American passport, I was put on a train at Petrograd with other Americans and permitted to leave Russia. Between 1919-1931, I lived in China under extra-territoriality, protected from bandits and other marauders who were then extant in that country. In 1919, during the Students Movement, I was called to the American Consulate in Shanghai and notified that my passport might be lifted if I actively partook in a revolution against the recognized government of China.

In 1919, a group of Koreans wanted me to go to Paris to represent them at the peace conference. I could not get permission at the time. In 1923, in Tokyo, during the frightful earthquake, my wife and I were rescued by the American Government after we had slept on the street for five nights. The State Department, Army and Navy cooperated in looking after Americans in distress. Some had inadequate funds and they were aided.

It is absurd to suggest that an American is free to go where he pleases in a disturbed world and to do whatever he pleases and then to have the privilege of calling upon the American Government for aid if he gets into trouble.

Dr. Otto Nathan is a refugee who has prospered here. In the United States, he has taught economics and has lectured before organizations. In the judgment of the State Department, it is not to the best interests of the United States that he should ravel in Europe. They say that they have satisfactory data to uphold their view but this data they cannot make public.

They may be altogether wrong about Dr. Nathan or anybody else. But someone has to decide to whom a passport should be given and from whom it should be withheld. Such a decision is the right of any country. The agency constituted to make such a decision ought to have its rights from specific laws. Dr. Nathan's lawyers say that there are no such laws, except the McCarran Internal Security Act, the constitutionality of which is being challenged. If these lawyers are correct, Congress ought to pass a law forthwith.

An Infection Common To School-Age Group

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

STRICT attention to personal cleanliness is essential for anyone suffering from pinworm infection. It's especially important for parents to know what to do for it, since about 45 per cent of school-age children become infected with pinworms.

Generally, these small white worms are found in the upper part of the large intestine and cause intense itching around the rectum and frequently in the nose.

Medication

Piperazine is effective in treating this infection. But whatever the drug your doctor will prescribe for you or your youngster, you must heed the following general instructions:

Scrub Hands

The patient must scrub his hands and fingernails with a brush and soap after toilet and before each meal. Keep the fingernails short, because pinworms are frequently carried to the mouth or nose under fingernails. Also, keep the fingers away from the mouth and nose.

If your child is the one who is infected, be sure that he keeps all toys out of his mouth. Sterilize his metal toys in a hot oven.

The patient should take a shower each morning, washing especially well around the rectal and genitalia areas. Toilet seats should be scrubbed after use.

Use a separate towel and washcloth for the face.

Wear snug cotton underpants to bed each night.

Soak or Boil

Each day change any soiled underwear, bed clothes, washcloths and towels. You can either boil all linen well or soak it in a solution of household ammonia for one hour and then rinse thoroughly. Make this solution by adding two teaspoons of ammonia to each 10 gallons of water.

Air out all rooms in your house for two hours each day.

Vacuum each room every day.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M. J. S.: I am concerned about an enlarged liver. What treatment do you advise?

Answer: An enlarged liver comes from many causes, such as infections of various types, malaria, typhoid fever, tumors, gallstones, or congestion due to poor condition of the heart. An examination is needed in every case to determine the exact cause for the difficulty. Whether or not the treatment will clear up the condition depends entirely upon what is producing it.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

WHARTON and his two sidekicks weren't in the Longhorn, but Calder was, lounging against the bar, his green eyes taking in the room without seeming to watch anything. He smiled at them.

"Well, see you're loose again. Pay to have the right friends."

"Sure does," Rusty agreed amiably. "And speakin' o' payin', Kerry an' me 'figure we got some poker winnin's comin' to us."

"Sure," Calder pulled out a wallet and counted out a handful of crisp notes to each of them. "That right?"

"Seems so to me. You satisfied, Kerry?"

Kerry nodded and stuffed the thick roll of greenbacks into his pocket, reflecting that he wouldn't need to worry about a job for awhile.

As Rusty put his money away, something fell from his pocket and landed on the floor with a small clatter. Calder laughed.

"Still carrying your lucky piece?"

"Sure am." Rusty displayed to Kerry on the palm of his hand the object he had picked up, a crudely carved silver medal of the kind pious Mexicans sometimes wore around their necks. "Mexican wrangler for an outfit I used to ride for give it me. Said long as I carried it, I'd never be drowned."

An' you see I never have. 'Course," he grinned, "I ain't been near no water deep enough t' drown in. But it might come in handy some day. Y' never can tell."

Kerry's attention had been suddenly drawn away by the sight of a dozen or so men pushing through the bar doors. Dusty, unshaven, vociferous, with the unmistakable stamp of men just in off the trail, they shouted and laughed and shoved their way over to the bar, a sight too common here in Dodge for anyone but Kerry to pay any particular attention to.

How far, he'd asked himself last night, did a man have to ride to get away from the past? Farther than Dodge, that was clear. Because there was Broken Spur—or a good part of it, as represented by Sandy Weaver and over half the crew—making its noisy way straight toward him. And there wasn't any dodging a meeting, for Sandy had already seen him, and was bearing down on him. He muttered an excuse to Rusty and Calder, and came forward to greet the old man.

"Well, Kerry. Glad to see you, boy. How you been makin' out?" "Can't complain."

"Sit down an' have a drink with me." From the tone of the invitation Kerry knew he wasn't going to be asked questions, or reproached for his desertion of Rob and Broken Spur, as he'd more than half expected, considering Sandy's fierce loyalty.

But if Sandy wasn't asking information, he wasn't volunteering any. Kerry finally had to ask, "Well, how's—everybody back home?"

Sandy wasn't to be easily drawn. He mentioned Jared Toland's poor health, commended Christie's management of the Slash T, observed that she was "purty as ever," spoke non-committally of her increasing friendship with Cameron, and worked around at last to the trouble with the nesters. He told it tersely, without comment, and again it was Kerry who was forced to ask, "How's Rob taking it?"

"Like you'd expect. He's fightin' mad, o' course, but he's not really worried yet. Everything in the county's gone by his say-so so long, I reckon he figures nothin' can happen 'less he lets it." Lowering his voice, as if he were uttering a treasonable statement, Sandy added, "There's such a thing as havin' it all your way too long—you get too dang' sure o' yourself. He misses you, son," Sandy added soberly.

"Did he say so?" "He don't need to say to me. I been with him a long time. 'Im gettin' too old to make a big night of it after ridin' all day. I'm goin' back to the hotel an' get some sleep—let these rannies take the town apart if they want to."

Kerry watched him out the door—a lean, bent, stubborn old figure, all the fat burned and sweated off him by nearly a half century of hard work, his shoulders bowed, but not his spirit. If necessary, he'd lay down what was left of his life, as matter-of-factly as he'd throw away a smoked cigar, for the man who paid him his wages. The sight of him made Kerry feel rolled up and uncomfortable inside.

He went over to the bar, wanting company and noise to keep him from thinking. But his thoughts were as persistent as flies. Brush them away, and they kept coming back.

He downed another drink, as Wharton and the two Margie had called his watch-dogs pushed through the door.

There weren't any two ways about Wharton. He was in an ugly mood. He bore straight down on Rusty, Kerry began edging his way through the crowd toward his friend.

Wharton swung his heavy head around to glare at him. "So you're out, too!"

"Yeah, I'm out. Any objections?" "I might not have—an't then again I might!"

"They made you the law in town now, Wharton?" Rusty asked mildly. "First I ever heard a man had to have your say-so to get outa jail."

"Think you're mighty smart, don't you?" Wharton growled. "Not particular, no," Rusty decided, after seeming to turn the matter over judiciously in his mind. "On the other hand, I ain't as dumb as some folks I could mention."

Wharton reacted like a goaded steer. "Who you callin' dumb, you two-bit cowhand?"

"Why, nobody, far as I recollect." Rusty appealed to the bystanders. "Anybody hear me mention any names?" His mild eyes turned back to the cattlemen's son.

"Speakin' o' name callin', I don't particular care for your brand o' language, Wharton."

"You don't, eh?" Wharton moved in closer, menacingly, till his face was inches from Rusty's. "That's too bad. What you figure on doin' 'bout it?"

"I figure to finish my drink—if you'll kindly move your head outa the way."

PICTURE TALK

by NORMAN KUTLER

We have some really exciting news about color film for all of you who use miniature cameras.

It's the fast new 35mm 828, 620 and 120 Kodak Ektachrome film, which are just about three times faster than any other outdoor color film you've previously been loading into your miniature camera. And to know what this extra speed can mean to you? It will make it possible for you to take your pictures under far less favorable outdoor lighting conditions than you've ever dared try before. We also have the new Tri-X film for all black and white pictures.

Besides giving you a wider choice of lighting possibilities, the new film allows you to "stop" more motion in your pictures. This will be good news for many of you who like to snap sports and action.

As with other color films, we have this new one in both outdoor and indoor types, and it may be used with either flash or flood when supplementary lighting is desired. Stop in and get a roll for your camera. After you've shot your pictures, return the film to us for processing just as you do the black-and-white film you shoot.

Iron-Man Driving, A Hazard

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

(For Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP)—This is the time of year the amateur iron-man type driver loads his family into the car and grimly whooshes off toward some far distant vacation spot.

Will he settle for 400, 500 or even 600 miles a day?

Not this character. He's a time-tested, 700 plus miles a day demon who voraciously gobbles up those tedious distances.

He carts along fruit, sandwiches and a jug full of coffee for the family. The normal road break for lunch is not for the likes of him. He's going places on a tight driving schedule that runs from sunup to sundown.

Will he get there in one piece?

Mr. Iron-Man simply oozes self-confidence on this point. After all, he's a top-notch driver, he hasn't consumed any intoxicating liquor and hard driving doesn't make him feel sleepy or tired.

But safety experts and scientists who have studied the insidious effects of fatigue take a dimmer view of his chances.

If he doesn't doze off momentarily or run headlong into an emergency that calls for a hair-trigger decision and response the experts concede he'll probably make out all right.

But whether he knows it or not, the long grind of steady driving will slow down his reaction machinery and drop his vision and hearing ability below par.

Knowledge of these slow-down effects is based on actual field and laboratory tests of the primary functions mostly closely related to hours of driving.

One such study was made by the U. S. Public Health Service. Scientists tested truck drivers before and after a long stint at the wheel and after resting.

Drivers were given intricate manual tasks and then timed with a stop-watch. They also were tested for simple reaction time, reaction-coordination time, and manual steadiness.

In one of these tests, the drivers grasped an object shaped like a pencil and, as rapidly as possible, alternately tapped two small brass plates separated by a block of wood. In another, they had to jab a pointed object through a series of different sized small holes, without touching the sides.

In each of the tests, the men who had not driven since sleep made the best showing. Only 9 per cent of this group failed to measure up to a predetermined level of driving efficiency

Revolution Daughters Hold Annual Installation Meet

Columbus Judge Is Guest Speaker

The annual June luncheon meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held in the Wardell Party Home with 63 members and their guests in attendance.

As the members and guests assembled, Miss Marie Hamilton, incoming regent, presented Mrs. W. Emerson Downing with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Downing extended a cordial welcome to all members and their guests.

Following the luncheon, the meeting was opened in ritualistic form by the regent, Mrs. Downing, assisted by the chaplain, Mrs. R. Rea Bales. A pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Mrs. Bales, followed by the singing of the national anthem. The group was accompanied by Mrs. Martin Cromley.

At the conclusion of the business session, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. W. L. Mack, program chairman, who presented Miss Ruth Montelius. In her talk on national defense, Miss Montelius quoted the DAR magazine and a news weekly. She stated that the members must awake to the seriousness of the situation in our country and must think a little more about national defense. She also urged members to work politically and to be aware of good citizenship.

Miss Montelius spoke of an address given by President Eisenhower at the tenth anniversary of the United Nations. She stated that he brought a message deep from the heart of Congress with a desire for peace. A total of 60 nations are members of the United Nations, while 22 nations still are not members.

Miss Montelius spoke of the Bricker Amendment, and treaties, which, if passed, should protect the United States in the United Nations. She completed her talk by saying that if our educational system would teach American history and national defense in the public schools, the young people of the nation would have a better understanding of the American way of life.

Mrs. R. Rae Bales, flag chairman, as her subject, "The Flag Speaks". She mentioned the fact that the meeting fell between two patriotic days, when all Americans should display their flags.

Mrs. Bales stated that Flag Day has gained increased interest since a year ago when President Eisenhower signed into law a bill to amend the Pledge of Allegiance, adding two new words, "Under God".

The speaker urged all members to display their flags on July 4. She noted that there are four flags which fly at all times, day and night, year in and year out. These are placed on the East and West fronts of the capitol in Washington D. C.; on the grave of Francis Scott Key, who wrote the national anthem, and at the war memorial in Worcester, Mass.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Judge Charles R. Petree of Columbus, who is judge of the Columbus Municipal Court. He has served for 14 years as assistant city attorney for Columbus, and for two years as prosecuting attorney, and now is serving his second term as municipal judge.

Judge Petree is a member of Kiwanis, a former president of the General Orton Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association, a member of the Alladin Temple of the Shrine and a member of the board of trustees of the Legal Aid Society of Columbus.

The speaker used as his topic, "Our American Heritage". He opened his address by stating that the patriotic days are the stepping stones of our American way of life. He continued by saying that not enough credit is given to such men as Washington, Lincoln and Jackson, who gave us our American heritage.

He listed as a new religion in this country that of keeping our American heritage. He reminded his audience to remember that the least known people had a great deal to do with the history of our country, and that the service which they rendered to our country is very great.

At the conclusion of his address, the new officers of the chapter were installed by Mrs. Ella Bricker Mooney, state librarian of the Ohio Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Mooney spoke briefly, thanking the old officers for living up to the traditions of the DAR, and expressed her pride in installing the new officers who are:

Miss Marie Hamilton, regent; Mrs. Bales, vice regent; Mrs. Christian Schwarz, chaplain; Mrs. Forest Croman, recording secretary; Miss Montelius, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul H. Gearheart, treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Chilcote, registrar; Miss Dorothy McArthur, historian, and Mrs. Robert Knode, librarian.

At the conclusion of the installation, Mrs. Downing thanked her corps of officers for their support during her regime as regent, and presented Miss Hamilton with the regent's pin.

In turn, Miss Hamilton presented Mrs. Downing with the ex-regent's pin, speaking briefly on the accomplishments of the group under the leadership of Mrs. Downing.

Mrs. Martin Cromley, central district director of the Ohio Chapter, DAR, announced a district meeting to be held Sept. 14 in Chillicothe.

Guests attending the luncheon included: Mrs. Mooney and Miss Laura-belle Mooney, both of Mt. Sterling; Judge Petree of Columbus, Miss Daisy Hammond and Mrs. L. H. Debers of the Jonathan Dayton Chapter, Dayton; Miss Nettie Elliott of Columbus; Mrs. Isaac Millar of Lockbourne, Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of Lockbourne Route 1, Mrs. Morehead of near Circleville; Miss Winifred Parrett and Mrs. Chauncey McCoard, both of Circleville.

Hostesses for the day were: Mrs. E. W. Hedges, Mrs. Emmerson Spicer, Mrs. Paul Mattheas, Mrs. Richard Hedges and Mrs. Robert S. Strigley.

Dice cooked beets and mix with creamstyle cottage cheese; mound on salad greens and serve with crisp crackers.

WHAT'S REALLY IN THE BOTTLE

When you get a prescription filled, do you see what's really in that small bottle? Those pills or capsules, simple as they may look, often are the product of some of the best scientific minds of our time. They may represent years of effort by chemists, bacteriologists, biochemists, and other highly trained specialists. Many of the "wonder drugs" that we take for granted so quickly are miracles of research and production.

Something else that's in the bottle is assurance. Only a few years ago, if you can remember, we had no very effective drugs for pneumonia, or strep throat, or hundreds of other diseases. They often meant a touch-and-go fight for life, weeks of hospital bills, and then a long convalescence without pay-checks.

What a contrast today! For many of those once-dreaded illnesses, that little bottle of pills means you'll be up and around in a few days. There are often no hospital bills at all, because you can be safely treated at home. Most important of all, you are not ridden with fear — of the disease, of expenses, or long weeks out of work.

Yes, there's a lot more in that prescription bottle than meets the eye.

God and the Nations

AFTER ZEPHANIAH'S WARNINGS, BLESSINGS REST ON ISRAEL'S PEOPLE

Scripture—Zephaniah 3.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE PROPHET Zephaniah was a young man in the time of Judah's worst period of corruption, before the reign of good king Josiah. His book is short, only three chapters, but it is very powerful. He did not mince words with his erring people, but in the most graphic language described to them what the outcome of their sinning would be, for he felt that the Lord was very angry with His people, and not only with them, but with all nations.

Read his words: "Woe to her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing city—Jerusalem."

"She obeyed not the voice; she received not correction, she trusted not in the Lord; she drew not near to her God."

"Her princes within her are roaring lions; her judges are evening wolves; they gnaw not the bones till the morrow."

"Her prophets are light and treacherous persons; her priests have polluted the sanctuary, they have done violence to the law."

"The just Lord is in the midst thereof; He will not do iniquity; every morning, doth He bring His prophet of doom uses after his denunciations, if the people would only be true to their God and put away wickedness!

"Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jerusalem. The Lord hath taken away thy judgments, He hath cast out thine enemy; the king of Israel, even the Lord, is in the midst of thee; thou shalt not see evil any more."

People may be very ill of a disease which can only be overcome by having an operation. After that they may be in fine health and happy again. So Zephaniah may be said to have cured his people by an operation, or at least with warnings of painful things to come.

Later, this was true of Israel. The people did give up their licentious ways of life and turn back to the Lord, and were blessed. So it may be with all of us if we, too, turn to God and live so as to deserve His blessings.

We may not be wicked people—worshipping idols instead of our God of love, but don't many of us, large or small, have our idols

MEMORY VERSE

"O let the nations be glad, and sing for joy for Thou shalt judge the people righteously, and govern the nations upon earth."—Psalm 67:4.

judgment to light, He faileth not, but the unjust knoweth no shame."

All nations should be cut off, said Zephaniah, the Lord's prophet; their streets would be made waste and desolate. The cities would be destroyed.

After all the earth was "devoured with the fire of My jealousy," however, Zephaniah declared that "then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the Lord, to serve Him with one consent."

"In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy doings, wherein thou hast transgressed against Me; for then I will take out of the midst of thee them that rejoice in thy pride; and thou shalt no more be haughty because of My holy mountain."

"I will also leave in the midst of thee an afflicted and poor people, and they shall trust in the name of the Lord."

"The remnant of Israel shall not do iniquity, nor speak lies; neither shall deceitful tongue be found in their mouth; for they shall lie down, and none shall make them afraid."

What lovely, blessed words the whom we unconsciously put before our Father in Heaven? Little girls may have their hearts set on being better and more smartly dressed than their classmates or playmates, forgetting to show the consideration due these other youngsters. Boys may make sports and the winning of games the most important thing in their lives. Sports should, of course, be part of every normal youngster's life, but not to the extent that unless their team wins they are not good sports who play fairly and take the results in good part.

Men may make idols of making money and business success so that they have no time to be good, thoughtful, companionable husbands and fathers. Women may be too much interested in their clubs, even in their church activities, or social position to the detriment of their families.

Let us put first things first, separating the important things in our lives from the others—they are important, yes, but not of first importance. Let us humbly ask God to direct our feet, too, into the right paths, and lead us by His clearer vision.

Scripture—Zephaniah 3

By Alfred J. Buescher

The prophet Zephaniah lived at a time of great corruption in Judah, before Josiah's reign. He prophesied that because of these sins the Lord would utterly destroy the nations and all created things.

Jerusalem, stormed Zephaniah, is filthy and polluted, her princes are corrupt and oppressive; her prophets are light and treacherous persons, and her priests have polluted the sanctuary and done violence to the law of God.

After the destruction, Zephaniah foretold, the Lord would turn again to His people, purify their language, that they might call on His Name to serve Him and bring to Him their offerings.

"Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all the heart. The Lord hath taken away thy judgments," and is with thee. MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 67:4.

Bible Words To Live By

Hebrews 12:1—"Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and run with patience the race that is set before us, Looking unto Jesus."

As a young lad on the farm in the State of Illinois I was taught to read the Bible very early in life, in fact, before I became a Christian. Under the guidance of my Godly mother, I was instructed in the Christian way of life, both by interpretation of the Word and example of Christian living by my parents.

This particular verse fastened itself upon my boyhood mind as a motto for my own Christian achievement. I have always been interested in races, but more especially, in the race of life. To be keenly conscious of the great number of witnesses, it early became a practice of mine to do nothing, either in public or private that I would be ashamed of, therefore, this verse has been a great tonic to my Christian behaviour.

Again, I am always aware of the presence of Him who leads in the real values of life. "Looking unto Jesus"—what an incentive! One need never go astray with such a source of help and strength.

th. He never leaves or forsakes, and forgiveness is His master principle. All this done, in patience, opens new vistas of Christian living for me daily.

Major Leagues Pay Million For Bonus Babies In 2 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league club owners have shelled out well over a million dollars in bonuses to untried young players since the new bonus rule went into effect a little over two years ago.

In the last two months alone, American and National League clubs have handed some $320,000 to inexperienced "bonus babies" in the hope that they will blossom into future major league stars.

Under the rule, a bonus player (an untried rookie getting more than $4,000 in bonus and salary) must remain with the major league club at least two years before he can be optioned to the minors. There presently are 33 such youngsters.

American League clubs have spent some $286,000 for seven of the nine newest bonus boys. Baltimore has parted with $111,000 in bonuses since the start of the season; Detroit has put up $70,000; Kansas City $50,000; Washington $30,000, and Chicago $25,000.

Only Boston and Cleveland in the American and Philadelphia and St. Louis in the National are without bonus players. The Phillies recently sent Tommy Quattara, a $4,000 bonus pitcher, to one of their minor league clubs. The Cards shipped Dick Schofield, a $40,000 shortstop, to the minors and the Red Sox sent Billy Consolo, a $65,000 infielder, to the Pacific Coast League.

The Tigers, who already had three bonus players — not includ-

Reds To Meet Phils Tonight In Twin Bill

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies moved into Cincinnati today for a five-game stand with the Redlegs.

The two clubs, only six percentage points apart, have met only three times this season. Rain won out on three other scheduled occasions.

The Reds, who have copped two of the three contests, idled into fifth spot over the Phils last night as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the City of Brotherly Love 7-1.

Making up one of the rained-out dates, the clubs play a twin-night doubleheader tonight. Rookie Rudy Minarcin is down to work the first game for Manager Birdie Tebbetts and Joe Nuxhall the second. A single game is set for Saturday and another doubleheader Sunday.

While the Red players didn't work Thursday, General Manager Gabe Paul toiled to get outfielder Sam Mele of the Boston Red Sox on the Redleg roster. Mele, 32, was used sparingly by the Red Sox this season and picked up only four hits in 32 times at bat.

His acquisition brings the Cincinnati roster to the limit of 25. This means one player will have to be cut loose when Bud Podbielan, who suffered a broken thumb earlier this month, is taken off the inactive list.

ing Harvey Kuenn ($55,000), Frank House ($70,000) and Bill Tuttle ($25,000) all of whom received their bonuses before the new rule went into effect — gave $35,000 each to Jim Brady, a 19-year-old freshman pitcher at Notre Dame, and Jim Small, an 18-year-old outfielder just out of high school in San Jose, Calif.

Two years ago, the Tigers handed out $120,000 in bonuses to three youngsters. Bob Miller, a lefthanded pitcher, received $60,000; outfielder Al Kaline, an alumnus of Baltimore Southern High, was given $35,000 and Reno Bertoia, a Michigan University infielder, got $25,000. Only Kaline has proved a bargain so far.

The Orioles gave infielder Jim Pysburn, Auburn's all-star athlete, $50,000; pitcher Bruce Swango $36,000 and infielder Wayne Causey $25,000.

Kansas City gave Cletus Boyer, an 18-year-old infielder out of Alba, Mo., $50,000. Washington, which last summer gave infielder Harmon Killebrew $25,000 to sign, last week handed $30,000 to Jerry Schoonmaker, Missouri University outfielder.

Sitting on the New York Yankee bench are first baseman Frank Leja, a $50,000 bonus baby, and Tommy Carroll, a $40,000 shortstop from Notre Dame. The White Sox recently gave $25,000 to outfielder Bob Powell of Michigan State. They already have first baseman Ron Jackson, former Western Michigan star who received $25,000.

National League clubs, burdened by nine bonus bench sitters, added only two in recent days. The Cincinnati Redlegs gave $15,000 to outfielder Al Silvera, a Southern California lad and Milwaukee gave $20,000 to pitcher John Edelman of West Chester (Pa.) Teachers. The Braves also have pitchers Joey Jay and infielder Mel Roach, both in the $20,000 class. Brooklyn's Sandy Koufax, a $20,000 bonus pitcher, hasn't pitched a ball yet. Neither has Don Kaiser, who made the Chicago Cubs cough up a reported $50,000 last spring.

Pitcher Paul Giel, who cost the Giants $60,000 last June, is just beginning to pay dividends. But infielder Joe Amalfitano, a $12,500 bonus boy, has seen little action. Pittsburgh has been getting its money's worth from shortstop Dick Groat, the former Duke star, who cost the Pirates $40,000.

Also with the Pirates are the O'Brien twins, John and Eddie, who received $40,000 apiece from Branch Rickey in 1953. Pitcher Laurin Pepper, a $15,000 bonus lad, has made a couple of inauspicious starts for the Pirates and catcher Nick Koback, who received $10,000, keeps in shape with bullpen duty.

Kentucky Cagers Win Tilt 83-74

Second Cage Game Set At Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Coach Paul Walker of Middletown is expected to send Ohio's high school all-star cagers through a long practice session here today in preparation for Saturday night's battle with a strong Kentucky all-star quintet.

The Kentuckians, paced by big Johnny Cox of Hazard, trounced the Buckeyes 83-74 Thursday night in the first encounter of a two-game series. The game was played at Bowling Green, Ky.

Hazard, limited to eight points in the first half, closed with a rush and finished with 28 tallies, tops for both sides.

Cox had offensive help from Donnie Butcher of Meade Memorial who whipped in 17 markers as the winners widened a 36-32 halftime edge to 61-51 at the three-quarter mark.

About 1,200 fans watched Kentucky cop its fifth victory in the series which has seen Ohio capture 11 contests. Famed Ed Diddle, Western Kentucky College mentor, piloted the victors.

Kentucky got off to a flying start taking a 12-3 lead midway through the first quarter. But an Ohio rally, sparked by Vienna's

Rex Leach, whittled the difference to only five points by the end of the period, as Kentucky led, 20-15. Leach, who finished with 16 tallies, was Ohio's top pointmaker. The Buckeyes crept to within one point of the winners early in the second stanza but Kentucky's stars widened the gap again and were home free the rest of the way. Kentucky enjoyed its largest margin midway through the third period when it held a 45-34 advantage.

National AAU Track Meet Opens Today

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Five world record holders, eight Olympic champions and other stars begin competition today in the national AAU track and field meet — an event rated as the "semi-finals" for selection of the 1956 U. S. Olympic team.

Featuring today's program beginning will be finals in the 100 yard dash, mile run, high jump and shot put.

The mile run matches Wes Sanctee, the Kansas cowboy now in the Marines, against his long-time rival and defending AAU champion Fred Dwyer.

Defending champion Perry O'Brien is the man to beat in the shot put. He set the AAU mark of 58 ft. 11 1/2 in. last year. Challenging him are Bill Nieder of Kansas, the NCAA champ, and Tom Jones of Miami University of Ohio.

Martinez Favored Over Varona

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Third-ranked welterweight Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., is an 8-5 favorite for his 10-round scrap tonight with the tough-punching Cuban, Chico Varona.

The bout will be televised on NBC.

Varona has won 65 of his professional bouts, 42 by knockouts, losing 19 and drawing in three. Martinez has won 40 of his 43 pro fights, 22 by knockouts. He has won 13 straight since he lost to Danny Giovannelli in May, 1953.

Top Hat Softballers Play On Saturday

Softball at its best will be played Saturday night when Top Hat of Circleville takes on North Lewisburg, of Champaign County, at Ted Lewis Park starting at 8:30 p. m. The last time these two teams met was in the state finals in 1954. Top Hat dropped that game 2 to 1 after 13 innings.

Top Hat softballers play each Thursday evening in Mt. Sterling, acting as the host team. The local lads have won eight of their first 10 games this season.

leaving him are Bill Nieder of Kansas, the NCAA champ, and Tom Jones of Miami University of Ohio.

'Terrible Ted' Williams Leads Sox In Win Streak

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's torrid Red Sox are on the threshold of the American League first division after 14 wins in 16 games.

Detroit arrived Tuesday three games ahead of Boston in fourth place. After a three game Red Sox sweep, the Tigers hold a .001 percentage edge.

No single factor brought about the meteoric rise of the Red Sox but Ted Williams deserves much of the credit. Since returning to the lineup May 28 he's hit .387 with nine home runs, two triples and eight doubles. He has batted in 24 runs, scored 20 runs and drawn 20 walks.

In the Detroit series he:

1. Hit a three-run homer that beat the Tigers 5-4 in the first game.

2. Clubbed three doubles in the second game for two RBI's and scored twice in a 12-7 win.

3. Got a single and three key walks before retiring for a pinch runner in sixth as Sox blanked Tigers 7-0.

Though pained severely recently with a sore back, Williams is hustling and making fine catches in left field. And even stole a base.

His enthusiasm is catching.

While Williams was being given three walks, Jackie Jensen hit a grand slam homer, Norm Zaichin a four-bagger with a mate aboard and Billy Klaus, stretching his hitting streak to 12 games, singled in the other run.

Blue Lem Early Derby Favorite

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blue Lem is the early favorite of an anticipated field of 14 three-year-olds which will race Saturday in the $40,000-added Ohio Derby at Thistle Down Track.

Although Lem, son of Blue Sword and owned by H. C. Fruehauf, ran second to Honey's Alibi in the recent $62,500 Chicagoan Stakes, he's expected to get more backing in Ohio than the Alibi.

That's because of the fact that he rallied from 17th and last position at Balmoral, and because the field will be going a quarter of a mile further on the Thistle Down strip in Saturday's mile and a quarter event.

If at least 12 of the 14 probable starters compete, the gross purse will amount to nearly $46,000. The race will be broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Feller Beats Orioles On Four Hitter

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, with Gene Woodling supplying new batting punch, open a four game series tonight against the New York Yankees.

Woodling hit three singles and a double Thursday, as the Indians beat Baltimore 9-2 to sweep a three-game series from the Orioles. Bob Feller pitched four-hit ball to win his second victory against three losses.

Woodling, newly acquired from the Orioles in a trade for Dave Pope and Wally Westlake, drove in four runs. It seems likely he'll stay in left field against the Yanks, in place of Ralph Kiner who went zero for four Wednesday.

Cleveland's main difficulty at the moment is ailing pitchers. Rookie Herb Score, who was supposed to pitch Thursday, has contracted a virus infection, and probably won't be able to go against the Yanks.

Bob Lemon, who has an injured leg, is scheduled to start one game in Sunday's doubleheader — but his recovery by that time is still doubtful.

Mike Garcia (3-8) starts tonight, against Johnny Kucks (5-3). Art Houtteman, recovered from a broken blood vessel in his hand, probably will pitch Saturday against Ed Lopat. Early Wynn probably will pitch one game Sunday, with Whitey Ford and Tommy Byrne going for the Yanks.

First baseman Vic Wertz is still laid up with an injured thumb and definitely won't play in New York. Manager Al Lopez recalled Joe Altobelli from Indianapolis to bolster the infield. Altobelli is a good fielder but without Wertz' batting power.

Cleveland ganged up on Baltimore yesterday in the early innings, scoring three runs in each of the first three innings. Feller had a no-hitter until the fifth.

Best Fishing Reported Up On Lake Erie

COLUMBUS (AP)—If you're going fishing this weekend in the Lake Erie section of northwestern Ohio, you'll probably have no trouble landing whitebass, perch and pickerel.

These fish are biting good, the state division of wildlife reports, but even better fishing is expected in later weeks.

In its weekly report on Ohio's fishing prospects, the division is forecast for sections other than Lake Erie look like this:

Northwestern: Fishing only fair because of extremely warm weather, but most lakes and streams clear and normal. Lake St. Marys yielding catfish and crappies. And Oxbow Lake in Defiance County reports good catches of bass.

Southeastern: Practically all lakes clear and normal, with considerable numbers of bass, bluegills, catfish and crappies being taken from such lakes as Burr Oak, Piedmont, Atwood, Leesville, Glendening and Tappan. Most streams only fair clearing.

Central and southern: Central

Fetchick Leads In Western Open

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—More than a score of pros and amateurs were in hot pursuit today of Mike Fetchick, the comparative unknown who sneaked in Thursday with a 8 to take the first round lead in the western Open golf tournament.

Fetchick, from Mahopac, N. Y., was only one stroke ahead of six others as the field of some 170 teed off in the second round of the four-day, 72-hole event.

Seven more players were tied at 70.

Streams molly due to local rains, but may clear for weekend. Best stream fishing expected in Blacklick Creek, Big and Little Walnut and Kokosing River. Buckeye Lake slightly roily. Delaware Reservoir in fair fishing condition as are Rocky Fork, Jackson and Knox Lakes; weekend outlook fair.

Southeastern: All streams clear, as are such lakes as Kiser, Grant, Stonelick, Cowan, Indian and Loramie. Few trout being taken in Mad River and tributaries in Clark and Champaign Counties. Area's weekend outlook fair to good.

'Baited' Fishing Hole Legal; So Is Use Of Anise

COLUMBUS — Will an Ohio game warden throw a headlock on you if you dore a worm with some sweet ointment or even "bait" a fishing hole?

Of course not, says the Division of Wildlife. Such practices have been legal for years. Many new scented baits have appeared on the market during recent years and some have proved to be effective, according to some sources.

An old trick, which still sounds like a good idea, is to place "ripe" meat or mash in a burlap bag and place the weighted bag in the water several hours before fishing the area. Catfish, in particular, will be drawn to the area by the scent, where they can be caught with hook and line.

Many carp fishermen flavor their dough balls with anise and other concoctions, apparently with good results.

Whatever your choice of scents, they're still legal in Ohio and many may help the fisherman fill his stringer.

Campanella Leads In All-Star Vote

CHICAGO (AP)—Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, who seems to be headed for his seventh All Star baseball catching assignment in Milwaukee County Stadium July 12, took the individual lead again today in the national baseball poll.

Campanella moved to the front with a deluge of 319,179 votes in the latest tabulation. Larry (Yogi) Berra of the New York Yankees, who holds a big lead in the American League catching scramble, took over second place with 317,024 ballots to trail Campanella by 2,155.

Al Kaline, the Detroit Tigers' 20-year-old right fielder, is in third place in the individual race with 316,508. Duke Snider, Brooklyn center fielder, is fourth with 312,804 and the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle in fifth with 310,493 votes.

The balloting will close at midnight one week from today.

The first international yacht race took place on Aug. 22, 1851, when the yacht America defeated the British yacht Aurora.

Sokolsky's These Days

There seems to be a blind area in our laws in which administrative judgment rather than the Acts of Congress prevails. In Great Britain such areas are regarded as essential to the correct functioning of government.

For instance, they do not have a single law on their statute books concerning the vast process of banking. That area is left to the judgment of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and even more to the Governor of the Bank of England. This method works very well.

Perhaps it is a matter of temperament, we needing laws to keep us in restraint. Franklin D. Roosevelt employed the device of the Executive Order probably more, and more effectively, than any predecessor; for this he was criticized by his opponents.

It is clear, however, that it is practically impossible to run to Congress for a law covering each

With Colonel Jim Bowie laid low by injury and sickness, Colonel Travis had to take command. A huge Mexican army lay outside the gates of the Alamo, demanding surrender. Travis, Bowie and Crockett talked things over and then decided never to give up!

'Clover-Leaf Interchange' Due As Result Of Route 23 Bypass

Ramps To Lead Vehicles In To Center Of City

Island Rd. Is Set To Become Overhead Near Ice House

Circleville will experience quite a change in scenery when a "clover-leaf interchange" will be constructed at the western limits of the city.

The "clover-leaf" has been made necessary due to the four-laning of Route 23 which will bypass the city. The tentative plans were presented to city council earlier this week for a clearer understanding.

One effect of the "clover-leaf" will be that W. Mound St. will no longer continue on to merge with Route 22 near the River Bridge. Plans call for W. Mound St. to end at approximately where a power sub-station is now located.

The bypass will also influence the appearance of Island Rd. Pickaway County commissioners and the State Highway Department have come to an agreement on putting an over-pass on Island Rd.

THE PROPOSED route of the new bypass will intersect Island Rd. on a sharp curve north of the ice house. The over-pass, which will rise to approximately 20 or more feet in the air, will be a long, gentle curve—carrying that portion of Island Rd. over the new Route 23.

According to the engineering report, the curve can eventually be extended on Island Rd. so as to provide another entrance to the bypass.

Getting back to the bypass as it approaches Circleville, it will be elevated approximately 22 feet above Route 22 (or W. Main St.). Vehicles entering Circleville will take ramps downward to W. Main St.

Here are some examples of how the "clover-leaf" will work, with numbers being assigned to ramps just for the sake of it:

GOING SOUTH ON THE BYPASS ROUTE

To enter Circleville—enter a gently, arching ramp (call it No. 1 for now) which curves from the right side of the bypass road down to W. Main St.

To go west on Route 22—take the same ramp, but there is a cut-off which leads into Route 22. Cars will have to cross the traffic lanes on this route.

GOING NORTH ON THE BYPASS ROUTE

To enter Circleville—enter a straight ramp (call it No. 2), which leads past where the end of W. Mound St. will be, and goes directly into W. Main St. Vehicles may make a right turn into W. Mound St. if they wish.

To go west on Route 22—take this same ramp but turn left at W. Main St.

GOING WEST ON ROUTE 22

To leave Circleville—continue on straight ahead.

To go south on the bypass—just west of the overhead, take a gently, arching ramp (call it No. 3) to the right which curves up into the southbound lanes of the bypass.

To go north on the bypass—just east of the overhead, make a right turn on to straight ramp (call it

THESE NINE COMMUNIST leaders shown in Philadelphia are under sentence for advocating overthrow of the U. S. government by force. From left: Sherman Labovitz, 29, two years; Irwin Katz, 35, two years; Walter Lowenfels, 56, two years; David Davis, 46, four years; Thomas Nabried, 51, four years; Joseph Kuzma, 41, four years; Samuel Gobeloff, four years; Benjamin Weiss, 29, two years; Robert Klonsky, 35, two years.

Fabulous Yankee In Italy Nearing His 90th Birthday

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—A fabulous American named Bernard Berenson celebrates his 90th birthday Sunday.

Tiny and fragile, white-bearded and elegant, Berenson is an intimate of kings, a living legend and the world's greatest authority on painting of the Italian Renaissance.

On his advice were built some of America's greatest collections. Hundreds of Americans visit his villa I Tatti just outside Florence to savor his wit and wisdom—and to see how steadfastly American he has remained after 65 years in Italy.

His conversation is peppered with references to "the way we do things in America." He talks of his youth in Boston and the Harvard class of 1887.

"Because I am an American," he says, "I am a European."

A paradox? No, replies "B.B." Only an American can see Europe

No. 4) leading up to the north-bound lanes of the bypass.

GOING EAST ON ROUTE 22

To enter Circleville—continue on straight ahead.

To go north on the bypass—make a left turn at ramp No. 4 just east of the overhead bypass; this leads directly up into the north-bound lanes of the bypass.

To go south on the bypass—make a left turn west of the overhead on to a cutoff leading into ramp No. 3, which curves into the southbound lanes of the bypass.

The country-side is certainly due for a change.

as a whole and not as single, nationalistic states.

"I am not like some Americans who become patriotic—that word I coined—about some little part of Europe. They develop an extreme passion for some little spot and can see no other. Of course, I love Italy, but I love it as a European and as an American. Because I am both, I love all of Europe."

What of postwar writers and painters?

"Inspiration through dissipation seems to be the modern motto. I don't like it."

Berenson himself is a devotee of moderation.

Born in Lithuania, Berenson went to the United States as a boy. A group of Bostonians contributed $750 to send him to Europe for a year after graduation from college. He has been in this art-loving land ever since, in the process amassing a comfortable fortune first as an art buyer and for years after as chief adviser to the late Lord Duveen, the dealer who assembled most big private American collections before World War II.

Italian friends hid him from the Nazis throughout the war.

He plans to leave his estate and library to Harvard University, to be used for the study of Mediterranean art.

Social Security Tax May Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats were reported considering today a future 1 per cent hike in the social security tax to pay for the new benefits they want to give older women and disabled workers.

House Ways and Means committee members were armed with this estimate of the more unpleasant, "how to pay for it" side of the Democratic-sponsored plan as they went into a fourth straight day of closed sessions.

The Democratic majority has already tentatively approved proposals to lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women can receive social security benefits and to allow payments at any age to workers under the system who become totally disabled.

The American Legion was organized in Paris, France, in 1919.

'Gladiators' Sport New Corps Flag

Members of Circleville's American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, "The Gladiators", will display their new corps flag Sunday when they compete in the "Pageant of Drums" at Hamilton.

The new flag was designed by Paul Helwage, one of the snare drummers in the corps. In keeping with the "gladiator" theme, the flag has a shield of blue and a grey shield with a gladiator's helmet on top of it.

The emblem is set in a white field with blue stars. The shield contains a sword, a bugle and a drum. There is a fringe of gold around the edge of the flag.

In addition to this one, the corps has added a new flag of Ohio to the color guard. This makes four flags the guard will carry — the Hall-Adkins Post flag, the drum and bugle corps flag, the Ohio flag and the Stars and Stripes.

***

SUNDAY'S EVENT will be the first official competition for "The Gladiators" this year. It is being sponsored by the North College Hill "Gaiety Grenadiers".

The corps' next official appearance will be at the Ashville July 4 celebration. Members bypassed an opportunity to play in Mansfield on July 3. The complete schedule of the corps follows:

Molotov To Appear On TV Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will appear this Sunday on a radio and television show, but a Saturday program of the same interview has been canceled.

CBS said Thursday night the Sunday program, recorded and filmed in advance, will be carried at 3:30 p. m. on TV and 9:05 p. m., on radio.

Five Airmen Die In Two Crashes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Five men were killed in two bomber crashes near here Thursday. Both aircraft were based at Randolph Air Force Base.

Four airmen were killed last night when their B29 crashed a mile south of the base shortly after what Air Force spokesman described as "a touch-and-go take-off on a student transition mission."

Two crewmen survived. Both were hospitalized with burns and shock.

A B57 twin-jet bomber crashed about 16 miles north of here earlier in the day, killing Capt. William P. Brown, 32.

Capmaker's Papers Are Being Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate investigations subcommittee today sent staff sleuths on a hunt for documents wealthy capmaker Sol Schlesinger refused to surrender.

It "might tend to incriminate" him, Schlesinger testified Thursday during the subcommittee's hearings on alleged graft in the procurement of armed forces uniforms.

Chairman McClellan (D - Ark) promptly wrote to the Pentagon that Schlesinger should be denied any more governmental contracts.

How to feel air-borne in one easy session

Just be our guest at the wheel of a Buick
with Variable Pitch Dynaflo™

It's The Hardtop with Four Doors!

Another big reason for Buick's soaring sales is the 4-Door Riviera—the new hit in hardtops that's taking the country by storm. The "Convertible" look, with no center posts—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers. Shown here in the high-powered Century model—also available in the low-price Special Series. Both now in volume production to insure prompt deliveries.

THE ride alone is enough to make you feel you're cloud-cruising when you're in a Buick.

Big soft-acting coil springs on all four wheels—and a steady full-length torque-tube drive—and the pillow-cushioning of low-pressure tubeless tires—and a long list of other great ride-engineering gems see to that.

But you're closer to flight travel than just in the way you ride when you're in the driver's seat of a new Buick. Variable Pitch Dynaflo sees to that.

For here you do what the pilot of a modern airliner does for quick take-off and climb, and for better gas mileage aloft—you vary the pitch of your driving propellers.

You do it quite simply—just by the way you press the gas pedal.

Press down in the normal way, and twenty propeller-like blades inside the Dynaflo unit hold at their high-economy angle—to give you many more miles from every tankful of gas.

Press way down when the need arises—and you switch the pitch of those blades for high performance.

Instantly, you're off and away. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration in a safety-surge of forward momentum that's thrilling beyond all previous motoring experience.

What more can we say—except come try it!

It's a new kind of spectacular action—smooth to the absolute. It's yours with the virile might of Buick's record-powered V8 engines—and easily yours at great-buy prices that are sending Buick sales soaring to all-time best-seller highs.

Come in this week and be our guest at the wheel of the most sensational Buick yet.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.
